Based on the Costa del Sol, Jordanne Morris is a new emerging artist who uses resin to create unique canvases for the home, amongst many other creatives including furniture and everyday items. Resin, renowned for both its experimental nature and ethereal aesthetic is becoming increasingly popular. Many contemporary artists like Jordanne are finding new and inventive ways to incorporate the malleable material into her practice. Besides resin, Jordanne also uses other mediums including alcohol inks, acrylics and gold leaf.

Together with my local network of artists in Southern Spain, we offer various techniques to make exclusive custom art and furniture. This includes the current trend of Epoxy Resin that's used in art pours and epoxy river tables among other amazing furniture and art canvases.

Each art piece is made just for you, which gives you the rare opportunity to choose your own colours and canvas size. This means you can fill all those blank spaces on your walls to suit your personal tastes
